Autry to Host Senior Showcase Event on April 17

ENID, Okla. – Autry Technology Center will celebrate local graduating seniors with a Senior Showcase event on Wednesday, April 17, 2019. Senior Showcase is an exciting event designed to connect graduating high school seniors with local industry professionals and resources as the students take the next step in their future as the Greater Enid workforce.

More than 600 graduating seniors from Autry’s 10 partner schools are invited to take part in the event. Students will spend part of the day at Autry Technology Center where they will participate in breakout activities such as resume writing, mock interviews and a financial overview. Attendees will also visit the Central National Bank Center for a vendor fair featuring local industry professionals, organizations and higher education entities.

“These graduating seniors ARE the future of the Greater Enid workforce,” said Brady McCullough, Autry Technology Center Superintendent. “Part of our mission at Autry is to provide a productive and prepared workforce for employers in Oklahoma and this is an excellent opportunity to reach students in our community as they prepare for the next step.”

The event is focused on ensuring the graduates are prepared for the future, regardless of the path they choose to follow after graduation in May.

“Whether these graduating seniors are continuing their education, entering the military or choosing to enter the workforce, we want them to have a plan,” said Mandy Mayberry, director of communications, marketing and recruiting at Autry. “If we can help them be better prepared for the future, we have accomplished our goal.”

Autry is currently coordinating vendors who would like to participate in this new event. If you or your business is interested in participating or attending, you can contact Andy Beck at 580-242-2750 or by email at anbeck@autrytech.edu.
