Autry Technology Center Reschedules Dare to Lead Event to July 9

ENID, Okla. – Autry Technology Center has rescheduled the Dare to Lead luncheon event to Thursday, July 9, 2020 at the Stride Bank Center – Grand Ballroom. The luncheon begins at 11:30 a.m. and registration is $39 per person. The event was originally scheduled for Tuesday, June 17, 2020.

The luncheon features facilitator Linda Clark who will present fast-paced preview of the future of leadership through the lens of bravery and courage. — based on the research of Dr. Brené Brown, Dare to Lead™. Dare to Lead™ is an empirically based courage-building program designed to support leader agility, team effectiveness and culture change. The most significant finding from Brené’s latest research is that courage is a collection of four skill sets that are teachable, measurable, and observable.

“We wanted to share this opportunity with as many community members as possible which is why we chose to reschedule the event to July,” said Autry Tech Business & Industry Services Director Andy Beck. “The health and safety of our attendees is our top priority.
